

CITY LIFE

Parties, Culture & Society

Mom's Night Out

From yummy mummies to Mount Sinai Hospital's South Beach sizzler

AMORYN ENGEL

Pampering, primping — what more could a woman want?

The recent Mom's Night Out at Six Rosehill was the sort of evening mothers dream about: sexy drinks, delectable food; a fashion show, an on-site spa, hair salon and Cuisinart demo station. We ladies thought we'd died and gone to heaven. At most charity events, there's a lineup at the martini bar, but at this do the lineup was for the chocolate fountain and the massage station!

Urbanmoms.ca, Canada's online community for modern moms, hosted the party, and Toronto's yummy mummies loved every child-free moment of it!

Joining in the fun were Erica Ehm, celebrity founder, Yummy Mummy Club; Katie Noble, style guru and writer of urbanmoms.ca's Style File; Michelle Kostya, brand manager, Cuisinart; Stella Farrace and Elizabeth Crompton, national gift-registry business managers, Hbe; Lynn Heinrich and Fiona Edwards, both with Sun-Rype; Sara Deacon, marketing manager, Alliance Atlantis; Leon Benz, marketing director, Conair; Penny Greenberg, producer, Star TV; and Shauna

McMahon, Jane Gill & Associates.

Screams of delight rang out as lucky ladies walked away from the amazing raffle with enormous (really enormous) gift packages from Cuisinart and Conair.

Proceeds from the event go to the Palliative Care Unit at Princess Margaret Hospital, in memory of Madeleine Little Joiner, a 31-year-old mother of two. She was the cousin of urbanmoms.ca founder Jen Maier.

It was Miami heat to the max as Leadership Sinai, a group of young professionals dedicated to the future of Mount Sinai Hospital, hosted Live from South Beach, the group's eighth annual spring ball, at Toronto's Four Seasons Hotel.

Lovely ladies in barely-there outfits kicked it into high gear, dancing to the amazing stylings of James Brown Band members who performed with the South Beach Funk Orchestra.

"It was a fantastic success and it surpassed all of our expectations," said Leadership Sinai chair Jordan Sarick. "And it was especially gratifying to see so many members of the hospital community in attendance."

Gala co-chairs Jay Klein, Page Magen and Shawn Saraga, along with Susan Horvath, president, Mount Sinai Hospital Foundation, welcomed guests, including Eli Dadouch, president, Firm Capital; Michael Bregman, president and CEO, Tallwind Capital Inc.; Robert Daniels, CEO, H.I.T. Fitness Canada; Shaun Francis, president and CEO, Medcan Clinic; Sam Mizrahi, president, Dove Cleaners; and Melissa Hershberg, creator of the Hershberg Diet.

Leadership Sinai raised more than $250,000 for the Samuel Lunenfeld Research Institute.

Weekend Post

amoryne@nationalpost.com

PHOTOS BY AMORYN ENGEL / NATIONAL POST

Chef Ezra Title